WSDA registers PBH for organic agriculture use

(Stuttgart, Arkansas) PBH Nature's Media Amendment, a product used to replace perlite in growing media, has received verification from the Washington State Department of Agriculture (WSDA) as a registered material for use in organic agriculture.

In registering PBH, the WSDA verifies compliance with the United States Department of Agriculture National Organic Program. Registration also approves PBH under the Washington State Department of Agriculture Organic Food Program, making it suitable for use in certified organic food production and handling.

Riceland Foods, Inc., a farmer-owned cooperative founded in 1921 to market rice, produces and markets PBH to greenhouse growers nationally. The cooperative is headquartered in Stuttgart, Arkansas.
